Alexandria Gazette FRIDAY EVENING NOV. 8, 1907.

DIED FROM HIS WOUND. W. J. Hopkins died at Wise, Va., yesterday as a result of a shooting affray at the Wise polling place during Tuesday's election. W. S. Skeen, who did the shooting, is at large, and so far all efforts of the officers to locate him have been futile. A quarrel between the two men, who were working together at the polls, arose over Hopkins having challenged a prospective voter, Skeeu left the polls and returned five minutes later with a double-barreled shotgun, with which he shot Hopkins as the latter pulled the trigger of his pistol.

Hopkins was shot in the breast, and he sank down cortally wounded. Skeen also sustained a serious wound. In the excitement Skeen escaped by the assistsace of friends.

Hopkins leaves a wife and several children. Both men were prominently connected in southwest Virginia and well-known in Wise county politics, Efforts will be made to have Gov. Swanson offer a reward for the apprehension of Skeen, and this will be supplemented by the dead man's friends.

It is reported that Skeen is merely in temporary hiding, and will surrender himself to the authorities as soon as the excitement attending the tragedy sub-
